

HOMOSEXUALITY AND THE BIBLE

Kieran O'Mahony

All Hallows College, Drumcondra – Purcell House Room 2

Saturday, June 15th, 9.45 am to 4.30 pm

Conference Fee €40, includes morning coffee and three course lunch

Kieran O'Mahony, is an Augustinian, living in Orlagh community and working for the diocese of Dublin, providing biblical resources. Occasionally he gives courses at the Milltown Institute of Theology and Philosophy, where he worked for many years. His publications include Do We Still Need St Paul?, Pauline Persuasion and What the Bible Says about the Stranger. As one of the ecumenical canons of St Patrick's Cathedral, he is a member of the cathedral chapter. He is president both of the Irish Biblical Association and of the National Bible Society of Ireland.

This conference will be of interest to LGBT persons and their families, clergy, parish pastoral workers, spiritual directors/counsellors, 2nd and 3rd level chaplains, prayer guides, etc.

Booking Form

Early booking is recommended, and necessary for catering. Please confirm your attendance by completing this booking form and returning it with conference fee (cheques payable to Brian Glennon) to the address below. Acknowledgement will be made by email/mobile.

Name: _____

Email: _____

Mobile number _____

Certificate of attendance required? (For AISGA, etc.) Yes () No ()

Brian Glennon, Conference Organiser,

1 Ashewood House, 235 Lower Kimmage Road, Dublin 6W

Phone: 087 2300093 E-mail: briandglennon@gmail.com